Application for Withdrawal of Accumulated Total Deductions (Beneficiary) Pursuant to Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 32, Section 11

Form Last Revised: June, 2021

The Application for Distribution of Accumulated Total Deductions (Beneficiary) allows an eligible beneficiary to receive a refund of the accumulated total deductions in the member's annuity savings (retirement) account. The accumulated deductions can be taken as a lump sum payment or as a rollover, which is described below.

Surviving Spouse Beneficiary

If you receive a payment from the Retirement System as the surviving spouse of a deceased member, you have the same rollover options that the member would have had, as described in the Special Tax Notice attached to this Application. In addition, if you choose to do a rollover to an IRA, you may treat the IRA as your own or as an inherited IRA.

An IRA you treat as your own is treated like any other IRA of yours, so that the payments made to you before you are age 59½ will be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions (unless an exception applies) and required minimum distributions from your IRA do not have to start until after you are age 70½ (if you were born before July 1, 1949) or age 72 (if you were born after June 30, 1949).

If you treat the IRA as an inherited IRA, payments from the IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. However, if the member had started taking required minimum distributions, you will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA. If the member had not started taking required minimum distributions from the Retirement System, you will not have to start receiving required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA until the year the member would have been age 70½ (if the participant born before July 1, 1949) or age 72 (if the participant born after June 30, 1949).

Non-Spouse Beneficiary

If you receive a payment from the Retirement System because of the member's death and you are a designated beneficiary other than a surviving spouse, the only rollover option you have is to do a direct rollover to an inherited IRA. If you do not do a direct rollover to an inherited IRA, the Retirement System must withhold 20% of the payment for federal income tax. Payments from the inherited IRA will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions. You will have to receive required minimum distributions from the inherited IRA.

Qualified Domestic Relations Order

If you are the spouse or former spouse of the member who receives a payment from the Retirement System under a qualified domestic relations order (QDRO), you generally have the same options and the same tax treatment that the member would have (for example, you may rollover the payment to your own IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it). If you are an alternate payee other than the spouse or former spouse of the member and the member has died, you generally have the same options as a non-spouse surviving beneficiary, so that the only rollover option you have is to do a direct rollover to an inherited IRA. Payments under the QDRO will not be subject to the 10% additional income tax on early distributions if you are the spouse or former spouse, child, or dependent of the member.

Instructions

- Beneficiary must complete pages 2, 3, and 4. If more than one beneficiary, each must complete a separate form.
- Beneficiary and witness must sign page 5. Witness should be disinterested party.
- Submit fully completed form to the member's Retirement Board.
